Meet the new Assistant Directors of the Basically Beethoven Festival!

Tori Brenna - Festival Assistant Director

Meet Tori Brenna, the 2011 Basically Beethoven Festival Assistant Director. Tori will be designing programs, writing articles, and getting the word out there about our festival this summer. Tori is an English and Government major at The University of Texas at Austin and she plays the clarinet. Tori is looking forward to the 2011 Longhorn Marching Band season.

Parisa Zaeri - Artistic Assistant Director

Meet Parisa Zaeri, the 2011 Basically Beethoven Artistic Assistant Director. Parisa will spend the summer connecting with the artists that make our festival such a success. She will also be writing program notes and lending a pair of much-needed hands backstage. Parisa is currently pursuing a Bachelor of Music in Piano Performance at Southern Methodist University.

Patron Spotlight - Mrs. Louise W. Kahn

by FACP Artistic Director, Rogene Russell

Louise Wolff Kahn 1910-1995

Many years ago after a Fine Arts Chamber Players' concert at the Dallas Museum of Art, the legendary Louise Kahn came to the stage and handed me a playbill with the word "ensemble" circled. "An ensemble is something you wear, not a group of musicians you present on the stage", she informed me. This was the beginning of Mrs. Kahn's long and valuable relationship with FACP. Over the years, we sought her wise guidance as our non-profit organization grew.

Mrs. Kahn was a New York native and a graduate of Smith College. After pursuing a career in advertising, retailing and interior design in New York, she moved to Dallas and worked at Neiman Marcus as the personal secretary to its president, Stanley Marcus. Mr. Marcus was a boyhood friend of her husband-to-be, Edmund J. Kahn, who made a fortune in real estate, cotton and oil. During their lives, the Kahns gave an estimated $20 million to foster education and the arts in Texas.

Mrs. Kahn is no longer here to enjoy our concerts but her spirit lives on through the annual gift FACP receives from her estate.

If you have considered including Fine Arts Chamber Players in your estate planning, please call FACP at 214-520-2219 or email music@fineartschamberplayers.org to learn more about creating a philanthropic gift through FACP's Estate Planned Giving Program.
